

Republican Warmongers Need Blood

His sons are not in the military, and they have no problems with sending other people into war. War is a matter of business to the conservative elite. Through the war efforts big corporations profit from the dead bodies of American soldiers. You can see the push for war in the media as of late.

Is there a person in the world that can't understand that with the problems left by the last republican administration, that it would take a few years to re-stabilize the economy. Who doesn't understand that the Republican party has not received the endorsement of the Mormon faction in Utah where the candidate from governor should find his most support. They support Obama, and that is because the president is scaling back the war effort.

Unfortunately, since his election to the presidency, the republicans has stated for the record that their objective was to make him a one term president. They said they would do anything and have to ruin the economy or any attempt to better the country. The Mormons say that Romney has no morals, and if they don't know what he stands for who does. Does anyone love the trillion dollar budget plan Romney doesn't have? Tell you later, so will he after he is elected.

Look at the polling information, and how it dictates the pace of the election. There is no way that people fluctuate as the polls they claim to have taken would do that. They are actually fixing the election. Not to mention the leaders in corporate American threatening their employees to vote for Romney or lose your job. Look for example at the word Romney in the Microsoft word dictionary and see it is capitalize when you don't capitalize it, now try Obama. Not only does it not capitalize automatically, it also is redlined as to be an error. Don't forget the president is the most threatened president in history.

For people that don't understand what is going on in this country, they are a part of it. What really is shocking is the fact that women will vote for someone that don't believe that women deserve equal rights. If that is not a matter of the president being of African descent, I can't find a better example.

Finally, as someone who has never voted in an election, I say, let the republicans have the election and govern the nation into the depths of despair and destroy the nation as they plan on doing. What most don't understand is that If President Obama loses the election, the nation will finally be over after all of these years. This republican warmongering machine will get what they want, an end to global peace. First up, the Middle East. After all, the Middle East is where they printed in the bible that the world is suppose to end. Their agenda will come to past. I think they now call it a New World Order. But first, they have to destroy the old one. Don't you just love their endless lies?